Taxation

- 1. I am a tax resident individual, holding term deposits in Citi, I also have term deposits with Axis Bank. How would TDS (tax deducted at source) on such deposits be applied in my case?

The threshold for TDS application on interest on deposits (INR 50,000 for senior citizen and INR 40,000 for persons aged less than 60 years in a financial year) shall be determined based on aggregated annual projected interest on existing term deposit with Axis Bank and term deposit transferred from Citi. The projected interest on Axis Bank's deposits will be for the relevant financial year, and projected interest on deposits transferred from Citi will be calculated from 1st March 2023 to 31st March for financial year 2022-23 & complete financial year from 2023-24 onwards. Please refer below scenarios to understand TDS mechanism:

Scenario	Projected interest on existing Axis Bank deposit	Projected interest on deposit transferred from Citi	Aggregated projected interest	Whether tax shall be deducted
A	25,000	13,000	38,000	No
B	37,000	32,000	69,000	Yes
C	42,000	12,000	54,000	Yes
D	12,000	32,000	44,000	Yes
E	45,000	47,000	92,000	Yes

2. I am a non-resident individual, holding deposits in Citi, I also have deposits with Axis Bank. How would TDS on deposits be applied in my case?

There is no threshold for deduction of TDS in case of interest payment to non-residents (NRO deposit and Bank account) and accordingly TDS will continue to be applied as per existing process. However, applicable surcharge rate shall be determined for tax deduction on the basis of aggregated annual projected interest for the period mentioned in Question 1 on existing term deposit with Axis Bank and term deposit transferred from Citi.

3. How would TDS on Cash Withdrawals be applied for customers having relationships with both Axis Bank and Citi?

The determination of threshold for application of TDS on Cash Withdrawals will be done in a similar manner as explained in Question 1 aggregating the actual amounts of cash withdrawals across both relationships for the period mentioned in Question 1 as per the provisions of Income-tax Act, 1961.

4. How would TCS on remittances under Liberalized Remittance Scheme be collected for customers having relationships with both Axis Bank and Citi?

The determination of threshold for application of TCS on remittances under Liberalized Remittance Scheme will be done in a similar manner as explained in Question 1 aggregating the actual amounts of LRS remittances across both relationships for the period mentioned in Question 1 as per the provisions of Income-tax Act, 1961.

5. Who will issue TDS/TCS certificates?

Relevant period to which TDS/ TCS certificate pertains	Certificate to be issued by
Interest up to 28 February 2023	Citi
Interest from 1 March 2023 onwards	Axis Bank

6. Is there any change in submission of tax declarations (15G/H, etc)?

Any tax documents such as Form No. 15G, Form No. 15H, Form No. 60, FATCA declaration, Tax Residency certificate, Form No. 10F, etc. should be addressed to Axis Bank with effect from 1 March 2023. For the said purpose, if the document requires to quote PAN, Axis Bank's PAN can be quoted -- AAACU2414K.

For the purpose of application of lower deduction certificate (LDC) on deposit-interest payment, if any by the customer, TAN of Axis Bank should be used with effect from 1 March 2023. For the said purpose TAN to be used is MUMU05151G.

7. Do I need to deduct TDS on interest paid to Axis Bank post transfer of the loan portfolio to Axis Bank?

No, you will not be required to deduct TDS post transfer to Axis Bank. As per the provisions of Section 194A of the Income-tax Act, 1961, no tax is required to be deducted from interest paid to any banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949, is applicable.

8. How can I update my GST number?

There will be no change in the current process. You may visit to your current Citibank branch (now branded as Axis Bank branch) and update the GST details for your account.

The contents of this communication are not be construed as tax advice from the bank and you are required to consult your tax advisor for any questions.
